

Join us in Nunavut

Dr. Julia Haber loves working in Nunavut.

I decided to work in Nunavut because of the broad range of practice opportunities. In Iqaluit, I am able to do anesthesia, emergency medicine and general practice clinics in an environment with very supportive colleagues. I also wanted to experience living in the north, and to visit some of the smaller communities in Nunavut.

The physicians who work up here are a really great team; they are quick to help one another and offer advice when requested. This is an ideal place for a physician just starting their career.
